

WIND CAPACITY

All Visegrad 4 countries are at the end of the EU ranking list in relation to the utilization of the country specific wind potential. Even though for instance in Hungary the average wind speed is similar to Spain, proportionately Spain has 15-times bigger built in capacity. Hungary – where no new project has gone ahead since 2011 – has been overtaken even by Romania, which has on average much less wind potential.

Comment: 2014 data Source: EurObserve'ER; ETC/ACM